

Digital content sites to explore...
Fall 2009

Examples to illustrate trans-media properties and to inspire you include:

NFB: (more in production)

<http://filmmakerinresidence.nfb.ca/> (our first interactive online doc, linear but controllable; combines text, photos, sound, video)

<http://waterlife.nfb.ca/> (parallel to a film's release – more than extra material, its own experience; heavy)

<http://gdp.nfb.ca/index> (for continuing webisode stories over an extended period, organized in multiple ways)

<http://www3.nfb.ca/webextension/capturing-reality/> (more of a film's web extension with extra content, but nice design/ navigation)

External:

<http://www.thewhalehunt.org/> (for timeline, database & organization)

<http://gaza-sderot.arte.tv/> (mini-docs over time, across Gaza strip)

<http://doclab.voyageaboutducharbon.com/> (interactive web doc with navigation options)

<http://ecodazoo.com/> (for cute character 'pop up' animations)

<http://www.inanimatealice.com/> (for great narrative)

<http://www.girleffect.org/> (for simple text to get out compelling story)

<http://www.kathleenedwards.com/> (for design beauty)

<http://www.uniqlo.com/utloop/utcm.html> (for fun interactive creation game)

<http://www.theworldismycanvas.com/> (for art project, but also host talking right at you)

<http://www.bio-bak.nl/> (for hand-cursor, rude host, animated game content)

<http://soytuaire.labat.com/> (for gorgeous animated dancing cursor paint brush; heavy)

<http://ge.ecomagination.com/smartgrid/> (for visual representation of dry tech content)

<http://www.livehopelove.com/> (for elegant collection of poems, photos, voices, video)

<http://www.dayswithmyfather.com/> (for personal, emotional story, thru pix & words)

<http://fiftypeopleonequestion.com/> (for simple but clever video concept)

http://www.cinema.philips.com/?ls=gb_en (for sidebars within film adding context)

<http://archive.bigspaceship.com/hbovoyeur/> (for simultaneous stories & imagination; heavy)

<http://www.learningtoloveyoumore.com/index.php> (for filtered, simple UGC)
